

Dear customer

The current situation in the Middle East remains unstable and is changing rapidly. Recent events in Iran and the resulting restrictions in the Strait of Hormuz are affecting the availability of oil and gas products in Europe, which has led to significant fluctuations in diesel prices in recent weeks.

In an uncertain time and a shifting market, fuel prices may vary considerably—both up and down—depending on how global conditions develop from week to week.

To manage these variations as fairly and transparently as possible, we will henceforth update our fuel surcharge on a weekly basis instead of monthly. The adjustment will be based on the previous week's index figures, providing a more accurate reflection of market conditions and reducing the risk of price lag - regardless of how price trends change.

If you have any questions about how this may affect your transports, ongoing shipments, or upcoming planning, please feel free to contact your regular Bring team.

Kind regards
